David Russ, Managing Director of South Wales Chamber of Commerce, said: “Businesses in Wales should look forward to working with the new historic coalition Government during a critical time for the economy and it will be interesting to see what this Government will have ‘on offer’.

“Our members will certainly be judging the new administration on the basis of what it does to promote business recovery – particularly in Wales. What we need now is a delivery of a clear and achievable plan for business and reducing the public deficit must be at the top of the agenda.

“The Conservative-led coalition must follow through on their promise to roll back the planned employer National Insurance rise in any emergency Budget - the next few months will be crucial for recovery as the confidence in our political system needs to be re-built.”
