

Statement

For immediate release

4th January 2010

David Russ, Managing Director of the South Wales Chamber, said: “It is encouraging that 2010 has already seen a positive start with the recent upbeat figures, particularly surrounding manufacturing.

“However, the economy should still be treated with caution as we enter a period of recovery. To ensure a stable and optimistic recovery we need a National Recovery Plan, one that will lead us into an economically viable future.

“The South Wales Chamber of Commerce will be launching its National Recovery Plan for Wales on 12th January at the State of a Nation event and will focus on three key areas that need attention to drive recovery in Wales – Building Future Business, Business Infrastructure and Breaking Barriers for Growth.”
