A successful business – basing yourself in the right place

Founded in 1986 by Adrian Lewis, Lewis and Lewis Ltd provide comprehensive quantity surveying, commercial and formal construction project management throughout the UK and are based at Devon Place in Newport.

The location of their office at Devon Place – one of Centre for Business' many property portfolios - is a great one because they have the train station on their doorstep and great links with the M4.

Lewis Lewis, Director of Corporate Services, said: “With contracts across the UK the motorway links were a key factor for choosing the location. We also wanted to emphasise our business is a Welsh company and as Newport is seen as the gateway to Wales was an ideal location.”

One of Lewis and Lewis' most recent projects has been working with the Celtic Manor on the structure of the 2010 Clubhouse. They have done a lot of work with the Celtic Manor over the years, on the manor house and the main resort hotel. To be involved in a project for the 2010 Ryder Cup has been a huge boost for the business and with their work on their doorstep, they couldn't go wrong.

The 2010 Ryder Cup is going to be monumental for Newport and they are proud to be a part of this iconic venture for Wales. They were nominated and won an award from Newport City Council as part of the LABC Cymru Business Excellence Awards 2008/ 2009 for their work as Project Managers on the Ryder Cup 2010 Clubhouse.

Since the company's formation they have developed a strong reputation for providing Project Management, Quantity Surveying, CDM Co-ordination, Employers Agent and Project Monitoring Services across Wales and the United Kingdom. From the outset professionalism and excellence of service have been at the centre of their philosophy.

Lewis and Lewis have a team of five office based staff who are predominantly Quantity Surveyors, Project Managers and CDM Coordinators including Adrian Lewis who is the Chairman of the company.

Adrian still plays a very active role in business development and maintaining existing relationships both locally and nationally. They also work with a number of partner consultancies on a collaborative basis where further manning is required for larger projects.

Lewis and Lewis are equipped to deal with the range of technological challenges in today's market, with various IT systems, and an innovative and pragmatic approach. They can respond to current and future developments which is evident from their vast portfolio range.

For a small company Lewis and Lewis can do great things on a large scale. They are a company that is clearly proud to be Welsh and have chosen a great location in Newport to do business with a focus on keeping business in Wales.
